

For students on all programmes in the Department of Politics

Summer 2005

Answer THREE of the following TEN questions (2 HOURS)

1. How does Edward Said's work alert us to the problematic of representation and the collusion of power and knowledge?
2. 'Globalisation is a new form of colonization.' Discuss.
3. How has post-colonial studies developed since Edward Said's Orientalism ?
4. Discuss how Frantz Fanon's notion of new humanism was integral to his ideas of liberation.
5. 'Gayatri Spivak wrote, 'The subaltern cannot speak'. Discuss.
6. 'Globalisation undermines national identities'. Discuss in relation to Appadurai's work.
7. How does gender influence our understandings of globalisation?
8. How does Post-colonial feminism differ from western feminism? Discuss by drawing on the work of Mohanty.
9. Are post-colonial studies relevant to our understanding of global culture?
10. How has 'Western' culture been modified and challenged in different localities across the world?